'KNOW BISMARCK WEEK' OPENS HERE SEN. NEWBERRY UNDER AUSPICES OF TOWN CRIERS CONVICTION ISTelling Us What Is In Our City, Is Aim Of The Club During The Week*"DO YOU KNOW" SLOGAN*Open House For Business Men Is Suggested By Club As Part Of The Week*"Know Bismarck Week" opened in Bismarck today.

Launched under the auspices of the Town Criers club of the city, which has as one of its most important functions the advertising of the community, the movement began to draw support from all citizens of the city. "Do You Know" is the slogan of the week.

Under this caption the Town Criers are out to tell what really is in Bismarck to Bismarck citizens so that every one in Bismarck may tell it to the world.

Four-minute speakers will appear in motion picture theaters tonight, speaking in support of the movement. Cards bearing the "Do You Know" caption were placed in various stores in the city, which carried facts concerning the city's business which the Town Criers committee dug up by patient and laborious effort.

Conduct Essay Contest
The essay contest which was conducted in the high school and in the city schools has aroused great interest. Five dollars is offered to the student in each of the contests, one in the high school and one in the junior high school, for the best short essay on Bismarck. Prizes of $3 and $1 are offered for second and third places in each contest. The winning essays will be published during the week.

The heads of fraternal organizations and other organizations in the city, both of men and women, are asked by the Town Criers to devote at least ten minutes of their meetings this week to a serious consideration of the city, its needs and its possibilities.

Suggest Open House
Every business man in the city is asked to hold open house to the people of the city this week, to show to people many things which the average person doesn't know.

The Town Criers know by an actual test—tried on their own members—that few persons can instantly catalogue the most salient features used in "selling" the city. In a letter dispatched to heads of lodge and other organizations and merchants the purpose of the week is set forth by the Town Criers as follows:

Purpose of Week
"Do you realize that very few of our most loyal citizens really know Bismarck—have catalogued her attractions have noted her civic improvements—her consistent growth in population, business, civic prestige, and as a hospital center?"
"The Town Criers realize that every citizen ought to know—wants to know his city so that he may be able to tell the world some honest hard facts when he is promoting his city as a home, as a business opportunity, or an industrial advantage."

"Know Bismarck Week" will be celebrated from May 2 to May 7. The Town Criers will undertake to implant upon the memory of every citizen some worth while information concerning Bismarck.

"Every citizen is asked to join in the spirit of the week." Few people really want to know their city. They do not realize the course that the failures they attribute to their city are their own. A dog will lick the hand that strikes it. Even so your city feeds the mouth that derides it. The knocker derides the knocker. He always gets it, and always deserves it. Most citizens want to boost our city, but do not have the facts at hand, hence this modest undertaking on our part of sending you this statement of our plans and purposes, and a few of the facts.

Call for Discussion
"If you are the executive of a lodge, club or organization, we respectfully request that the merits of our city be assigned for discussion at your next meeting. Furthermore, we want your ideas on how best to coordinate the booster activities, and how to cure the knocker. Penalties are expensive, and are often delayed to an untimely date. We want you to help us impress on everybody that Bismarck is no longer a little town on the frontier (or a boy in short pants), but a growing city, at the heart of an agricultural and commercial empire (or quite big enough for long breeches)."

"May we suggest to you as a business or professional man that a Demonstration Day (not of some trade specialty, but of your own line) when your patients, clients or customers are your guests may be just the thing lacking to turn a hand or a foot into a head? You and the people whom you serve are not merely the baker showing his bread is made, or the restaurateur how clean his kitchen. Every line of business and profession has much important information that its patrons should know."

Ministers Aid
Many ministers of the city aided the cause of the Town Criers by referring in their sermons to the civic duty of all citizens of Bismarck and to the opportunity offered to do service for the city.

WIRE MANDAN ON CHANGE IN TIME

A telegram of congratulation to the Commercial club of Mandan on the change to central time was dispatched today by the Bismarck Commercial club. The telegram follows:

"The Bismarck Commercial club and the Bismarck Town Criers heartily congratulate their progressive sister city of Mandan on adopting central time for city use."

LOOK TO CITY OF FUTURE, IS URGED ON ALLDon't Forget Advantages When Thinking of Short-comings, Says Civic Body Head

(By C. L. Young, President-Commercial Club)

Each person living in Bismarck should be awake to its advantages... to what is commendable in it—but not indifferent to its disadvantages, to what needs improvement or correction. Community boosting does not imply blindness to community defects or needs. Rather it implies recognition of short-comings, but an unflinching belief that they will be remedied. The true booster has faith in his fellow citizens as well as in his city. His very attitude begets confidence in others that his faith is well founded. He is an idealist. But he does not assert himself merely with much speaking. He is a doer. He enlists in community enterprises. He not only believes that his city may be made the best place on earth—for him—but he sets about to make it that.

This faith—this belief in what has been done, in what can be done, in the ability to do, and this determination to achieve, are the stuff out of which worth while communities are made.

Bismarck has many advantages. It is well located. From the time it was founded as a future Chicago it has been imbued with the very essence of optimism. It is progressive. It has much to commend it. But it would be suicidal to devote ourselves to self-congratulation for what we have done. We must be forward-looking. We cannot be that without seeking our short-comings. To continue a progressive development we need more faith, more faith in our city, more faith in each other, more faith in ourselves, more determination to do more devotion to community improvement, and more team work.

If we take pride during this week of civic advertising in what we now possess, let us not shut our eyes to the Bismarck of the future—a city industrial, clean, decent, progressive and beautiful. More than this, let us set ourselves with firm resolve to the building of that city for if it is brought from the realm of dreams into the realm of reality we must bring it.

CELEBRATION OF MAY DAY QUIET

Washington, May 2.—Reports to the department of justice say May Day celebrations throughout the country were without violent demonstrations.

EARLY UPTURN.
Chicago, Ill., May 2.—Complete absence of deliveries on May contracts brought about a sharp upturn in wheat prices today. Opening quotations, which varied from unchanged to 13-4 cents higher, were followed by decided gains.

INDIGNANT CITIZENS IN BISMARCK BEGIN HUNT FOR CRIMINAL BAND AND THREATEN PUBLIC LYNCHINGA man hunt started in Bismarck today.

Dire consequences are threatened the offenders if they are captured, and thirty Bismarck men formed themselves in squads to run down the offenders.

Hearing reports that some chronic knockers were knocking the Elks minstrels the Town Criers, who are holding a "Do You Know" week in Bismarck, that they would assist in tracking down the civic criminals, a secret meeting was held, it became known today, the town was distracted, and the squads began operating today in search of the band.

The only disagreement that has arisen in the searching party is what to do with the arch conspirators who are knocking the Elks minstrels if they are caught.

"Hang 'em," one shouted at the meeting. "Burn 'em at the stake," shouted another.

The argument had not been settled yet today. One group wants to have a midnight hanging by men in Klu Klux Klan uniforms.

The other bunch wants to have a public burning at the stake, after the knackers captured are held in a cage downtown while the public may gaze upon them in their disgrace.

The leader of the group in favor of this method of punishment made an eloquent argument at the secret meeting on the manner in which arch-criminals—and he maintained the "Knockers gang" was the biggest bunch of criminals in the town—were tried in Italy, where they are kept chained in cages during the trial.

"We're going to get them before the Elks minstrel show if we have to look 'n every alley in town," said one of the men at the meeting. "However, we think we're more apt to find 'em on the main streets. Anyway, if we do there will be a grand event in Bismarck sometime this week."

The committee appeals to the entire city to back down the desperate "Knocker gang."

HELD INVALIDSupreme Court of United States Sets Aside Michigan Court Action in Senator's Case*WAS FORD'S OPPONENT*Justices Disagree Over Power of Congress to Govern Primaries

Washington, May 2.—Conviction of United States Senator Truman H. Newberry in federal court in Michigan for conspiracy to violate the federal corrupt practices act was set aside by the supreme court. Conviction of 16 other defendants also was set aside. The court held that Congress was without power to regulate primaries.

Justice McReynolds read the opinion to which Justice McKenna with held as to the power of Congress, but agreed as to the decision.

Chief Justice White also dissented from the decision that Congress did not have the power to control all elections, but agreed that the statute had been "grossly misconstrued." Justice McReynolds said that the lower court erred in dismissing the demurrer of the defendant.

COVERS PRIMARIES.
"Obviously the corrupt practices act covers also the primary and other preliminary acts preceding an election," the court said. "The one question here is whether Congress may limit expenditures of a candidate. The source of such power is in section four, article one, of the Constitution. This gives Congress the power of regulating the manner of holding elections and not of elections."

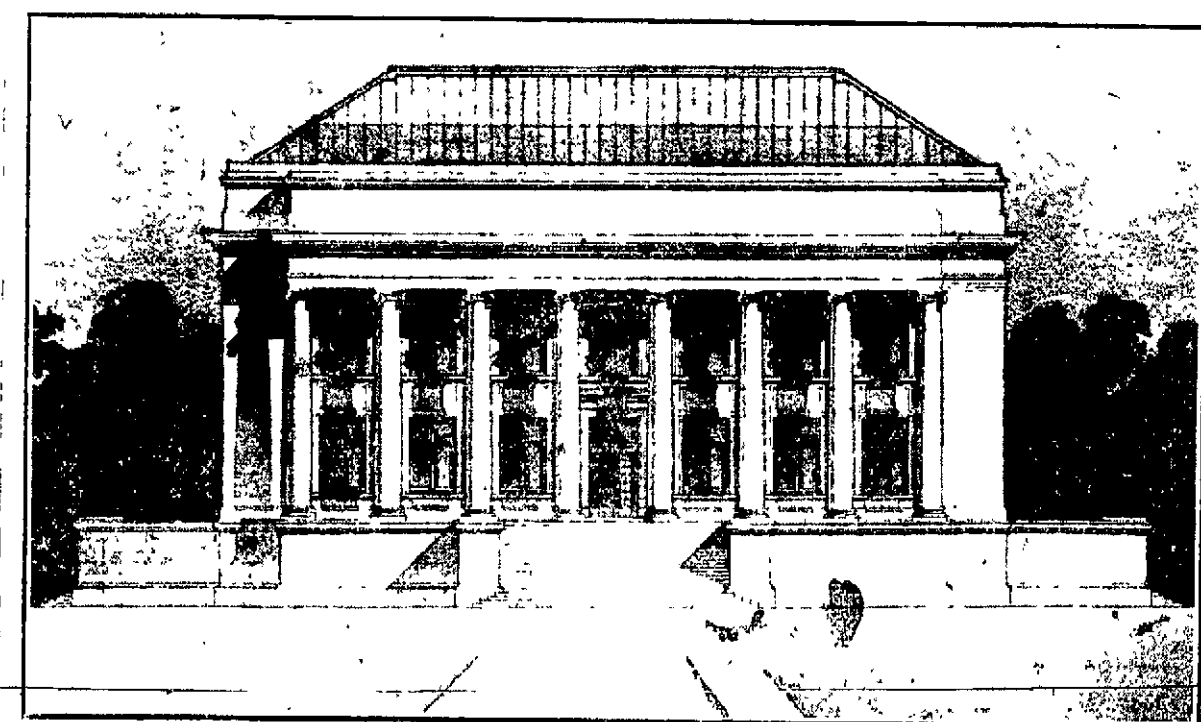

Associate Justice Pitney also read an opinion dissenting in part from the court's decision and announced that Associate Justices Brandeis and Clark had concurred in the opinion he filed. Chief Justice White said he concurred in the reversal of the conviction but thought that a new trial should be held.

Predicts Legislation.
He predicted that legislation would come which would set aside today's decision as to the power of Congress over primaries for otherwise "government cannot live." He called attention to the state in which the primary had been made the controlling feature of the election. In such cases, he said, "election is still-born and the vote without power or weight."

Was Ford's Opponent.
Upon reading of the court's decision Chairman Dillingham, of the senate elections committee, which has charge of the Ford-Newberry contest said the committee would meet in a few days to consider the effect of the court's decision on future senate action. Senator Dillingham said it appeared that with the corrupt practice law held void the committee would be without further jurisdiction. Senator Newberry, Republican, was elected senator from Michigan over Henry Ford. Ford contested and a recount gave Newberry a few more votes than his original slender majority.

MANDAN ON SAME TIME AS BISMARCK

Mandan is now on the same time as Bismarck having put its clock an hour ahead. Those behind the movement, members of the Commercial club, feel that this change will be more convenient for all concerned. The Northern Pacific has not agreed to the time change and will continue to use Mountain time.

LIBERTY MEMORIAL BUILDING ON STATE CAPITOL GROUNDS TO BE MOST BEAUTIFUL IN NORTH DAKOTAArchitect's Drawing of New Memorial Building.*STRIKE OVER ENTIRE NATION SEEMS AVERTED*Employers and Printers Reach Agreement in Many Cities*FOR THE 41-HOUR-WEEK

Chicago, May 2.—Acceptance by employers in many of the larger cities of the 41-hour week in the printing industry today appeared to have averted a nation-wide strike in book and job printing shops although isolated strikes in newspaper plants and job printing offices had been called to take effect today. Local officials of the International Typographical Union were authorized by international headquarters to call a strike where employers refused to concede the 41-hour week.

In several cities strike votes also were being taken by pressmen and other unions in the printing industry. About 250 locals throughout the country had signed 44-hour-week contracts with employers including job printing shops in New York (Chicago, Cincinnati, Milwaukee and Indianapolis) but in several cities including New Orleans, St. Louis, Salt Lake and Denver strikes were expected today.

AWAITING ORDERS
Fargo, May 2.—Pressmen in job printing establishments are awaiting orders from the international headquarters to walk out if demands for a 44-hour-week are not granted as a result of orders issued by international headquarters. Twenty-nine printers employed in Fargo job shops walked out today.

44-HOUR-WEEK REFUSED
Grand Forks, May 2.—Thirty-seven printers, pressmen and bookbinders in the three Grand Forks job printing plants are on strike today because of their demands for a 44-hour-week were refused by employers.

PRESSMEN SIGN
Fargo, May 2.—Local pressmen today signed contracts for the 41-hour week, employers announced. Compositors struck for the 44-hour week in compliance with orders from international headquarters. The number of men out will be determined by a check later in the day, employers said.

NEW DORMITORY WILL BE BUILT AT SCHOOL HEREGovernment to Spend $30,000 on Building for Indian School

A new $30,000 boys' dormitory will be constructed this summer at the United States Indian school just west of the city.

This was announced today by Clark B. Dickinson, who yesterday assumed the position of superintendent of the school succeeding Adam Neff.

The new dormitory will be brick two stories in height and modern in every respect. The federal appropriation for it is available immediately and bids will be called for soon.

In addition it is probable that the Baker property will be required as a residence for the superintendent.

Mr. Dickinson said the numbers of the school would not be increased, but rather that facilities for caring for the pupils now in the school are to be bettered.

Dr. Dickinson comes from the Rosebud reservation of South Dakota. He has been in the Indian school service for five years. Before that he was in Philippine educational service. His wife is to be head teacher in the school.

Mr. Neff is transferred to Oregon in an Indian school there. Several changes in the corps of employees are being made.

SUPREME BODY OF ALLIES IS IN AGREEMENTBelgians and French Win Out In Demand For Action on Reparations*U. S. KEEPS "HANDS OFF"*Secretary Hughes Says That No Further Note Will Be Sent To Germans

London, May 2.—Premier Briand declared that his "back is to the wall" and that mobilization of French troops must be declared at once to enforce reparation demands on Germany.

London, May 2.—(By the Associated Press.)—M. Jusserand, the French ambassador in Washington, has cabled here the outline of a conversation he has had with Secretary of State Hughes. The American government, the ambassador reported, desires to take no attitude on the reparations question that would irritate the allied government. Secretary Hughes added that the state department has no further communication to make to Germany.

London, May 2.—(By the Associated Press.)—The allied supreme council after receiving the report of the council for foreign ministers today agreed in principle to the plan of Foreign Minister Jaspard of Belgium providing for an ultimatum to be presented to Germany and for military measures to be used in case Germany should default.

GIVEN UNTIL MAY 12

London, May 2.—(By the Associated Press.)—Germany must give by May 12 a yes or no answer to the allied reparations demand or the inflictions of military and economic penalties, according to the terms of an ultimatum prepared and approved in principle here by the allied supreme council.

The allied ultimatum provides that Germany should be advised of the allied terms four days from today and then would have six days or until May 12 within which to give an answer yes or no without conditions the negotiations being considered at an end.

WOULD MAKE DEMONSTRATION
London, May 2.—(By the Associated Press.)—Great Britain will make a naval demonstration if Germany refuses to yield to the allied conditions in the reparations issue, it was stated here today. The demonstration which would not take the form of a blockade would probably occur in the North Sea.

REFUSE COMMENT

Washington, May 2.—In the absence of official information all comment on the decision of the allied supreme council at London with regard to German reparations was withheld today at the state department. It was said that so far as the United States was concerned the situation was just where it was Saturday night.

Mrs. Johanna Stack, who observed her 101st birthday anniversary March 27, died late Saturday afternoon at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Herman (Cindwell), at Lyon five miles west of Mandan. Mrs. Stack was born at Trillick, County Kerry, Ireland, March 17, 1820 and came to this country in 1845. She was one of the first white settlers in the Missouri Slope district west of the Missouri river, coming to Mandan with her family in 1850.

BANS CATHOLIC CHILDREN FROM PILGRIM PLAY

Archbishop Messmer, of Milwaukee, Announces Action

St. Paul, April 30.—The pageant Landing of Pilgrims as it is being arranged in Milwaukee is "exclusively a glorification of the Protestant pilgrims," Archbishop Messmer, of Milwaukee, stated here today. "The spectacle will be in no way make a recognition of the Catholic faith and I forbid Catholic children taking part in a demonstration partially religious in character which does not give a fair consideration to their beliefs," the archbishop added. It was announced in Milwaukee today that the proposed Pilgrim pageant had been deleted from the Independence Day program there on protest of Archbishop Messmer.

HELLO! SEND ME OVER ONE AUTO THIS AFTERNOON

Sales of groceries and other commodities are made over the telephone every day, but it's rather uncommon to sell automobiles at retail in this manner. However, that's the way Geo. Nelson, in charge of work on the new bridge ordered his Model 4 Overland. "Send down a Model 4 Overland Roadster at 5:15 this afternoon," was his telephone message to the Lahr Motor Sales Company, and "Service" being this particular firm's middle name, they had the model in stock and at the river at 5:15.

Takes Store Building on Main Street, Severing Present Connection

The Farmer-Labor State Record has moved to new quarters in a store building one door west of the Bismarck bank on Main street. The newspaper, its managers say, has taken over the property of the old Public Opinion from the receiver, a deal which was made several months ago but not consummated at that time. The paper has been printed by the Craftsman shop. H. P. Knappen, who has been holding the position of county treasurer by appointment, and whose term expires today, will be with the weekly paper.

Other changes in the newspaper field in the state in the last week include the suspension of a weekly paper at Godrich. It may resume in the fall.

AUTO LISTING AHEAD OF 1920

Registration Department Reports Early Use of Cars

There are more automobiles registered in North Dakota today than there were at this time last year.

"We are about $30,000 ahead of collections on this day last year," said E. P. Crain, registrar. "This morning 53,001 cars has been registered; by night the number was expected to be 53,000."

"People used their cars more during the winter this year," said Mr. Crain. "The mild weather this spring also increased the registrations. More people ran their cars all winter this year than ever before."

an increase in the use of cars the year round.

The total registration of automobiles in the state is expected to approximate $200,000 this year.

FATE AGAIN THROWS REID AND MOTOR CAR TOGETHER IN PICTURE

By some peculiar twist of fate, it seems that Wallace Reid, Paramount star, is destined to have some connection with automobiles, automobile racing or the automobile business in each of his starring vehicles.

In three former pictures, "The Roaring Road," "Excuse My Dust," and "What's Your Hurry?" Mr. Reid played the roles of an auto race driver, in another picture, "Double Speed," an automobile played a big part in the plot of the story. And in "The Charm School," his new picture which comes to the Bismarck theater next Monday, he is seen as an automobile salesman.

However, during the course of the picture, he deserts the automobile business for the yet more delightful position of principal of a young ladies' boarding school. Pretty Lila Lee is his leading woman.

CITY PIONEER PASSES AFTER LONG ILLNESS

Funeral Services Are Held For Mrs. Julia Olson, Long Resident of Bismarck

Funeral services were held this morning at the Catholic church for Mrs. Julia Olson, who died Saturday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock at her home, 300 Eighth street south. Burial was in St. Mary's cemetery.

Mrs. Olson, a pioneer resident of Bismarck, had been ill since last December, suffering from gall stones. Two weeks ago it was thought she was recovering and a daughter who had come from Washington to be at her bedside left for home.

The deceased was 80 years of age, and was born in Pembina county, in the northeast part of the state. Her family, coming into North Dakota from Canada, were among the first residents of the territory. She had lived in Bismarck forty-six years. Her husband, Daniel Olson, was a carpenter and he assisted in building some of the first buildings in Bismarck, including the old Sheridan house. He died a few years after coming to Bismarck.

Mrs. Olson was a devout member of the Catholic church and of a loving disposition.

Survivors included six children. They are Miss Belle Olson, of Bismarck; Miss Della Olson, of Colbert, Washington; Mrs. E. C. Grogan, of Halkirk, Alberta, Canada; three sons, Amos, William and Fred Olson, of Bismarck. A stepson, John Olson, residing near Bismarck, and a brother and sister in Neche, N. D., also survive.

The pallbearers for the funeral were D. J. McGillis, Patrick Kelly, G. C. Wachter, Anton Beer, George White and Frank Gurnia.

per cent on the value of the garment for the season; where the value of the garment is $100 or less the charge is 4 per cent. The U. S. Department of Agriculture in Bulletin No. 659 says: "Various repellents such as tobacco, camphor, moth balls and cedar chips have a certain value if the garments are not soaked with eggs and larvae. The odors have no effect on their development, and the destructive work will be little if at all restricted."

Every trunk, chest, or closet in which you pack your clothes is a cozy moth hatchery. You may not see the moths but the eggs are snugly tucked away in the folds of your valuable garments. Later they develop into moth worms and carry on their destruction. A greater loss can be accrued from moths in your garment in one season than the cost of storing will amount to in 10 years.

A great amount of dust and dirt will accumulate in a garment during the six months that it is worn and should be removed every spring to keep the fur looking nice and fresh. We have renovating machinery for that purpose and also dry clean garments with the greatest of care at a nominal charge.

Send us your furs for repairs and storage and we assure you that you will always want to be relieved of the responsibility connected with their care.

Dear Madam:

Now that spring and warm weather are at hand we are going to remind you of those repairs that your fur garment will need before you will want to wear it again next fall. For this is the opportune time to have that work done while our factory is not busy and while your work can get the attention that we like to give it to assure you of satisfactory workmanship in your garment. Last fall we turned away hundreds of customers with fur work because we were so overwhelmed with work that it was impossible for us to get it all done before the cold weather set in. We are glad to submit estimates on jobs if the garments are sent to us before we accept the order and if the price is not satisfactory will return the garment.

We store furs during the summer months and a few words regarding a most important thing. We have the best facilities for storing furs in fireproof vaults where they will be safe from moth, fire and burglary at a charge of 2

By Elmer Harris

Little Miss Innocence saw no harm in promiscuous telephone flirtations with any pleasant masculine voice that her system of picking random telephone numbers brought on her wire. How could she dream that some of these men knew each other; knew she was flirting with all of them, and were framing up a plot to punish and cure her of her wild habit?

Of course these telephone flirtations led to secret meetings. And first thing she knew, reckless Teddy had more excitement in her young life than she knew how to manage. All's well that ends well, but the adventures she found at the ends of the telephone wires make a comedy you cannot afford to miss.

Luscious California Oranges!

—Buy Them Now

SWEET, juicy, SUNKIST Oranges—California's delicious fruits—are in plentiful supply at all first-class stores.

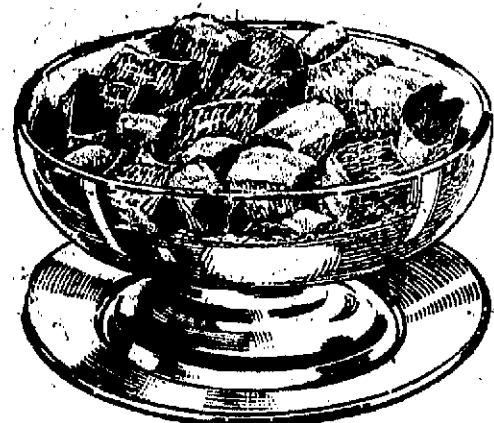

Taste them—see how good they are. Use them in the several ways described below. Eat more oranges and less of heavier foods. Let them help to keep the family well.

Buy a dozen and keep them within reach—in your pantry, in a bowl on your sideboard, in a dish in the living room, on a plate in the bedroom to eat just before retiring.

Get the habit of eating at least one orange daily. Start it now.

Let Oranges Serve You in These Ways

Busy-day Desserts For Shopping and Sewing Days

Delicious dishes—tempting, dainty and attractive in appearance—are prepared in a jiffy when you have oranges at hand.

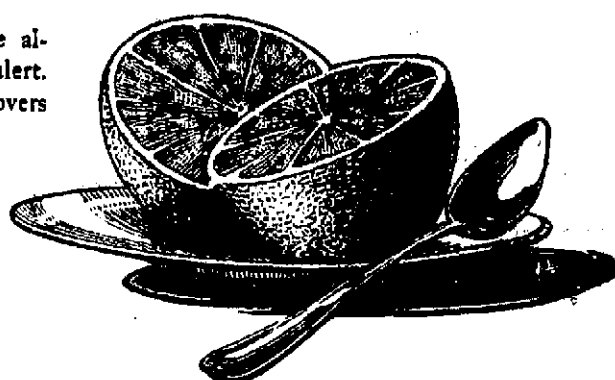

You simply slice, cut or chop them, and serve them plain, or with coconut, bananas or other fruit or nuts for the greater variety. Such food is both salad and dessert. And, best of all, it's the healthful kind.

You don't have to cook these dainty dishes. Serve them often and save time.

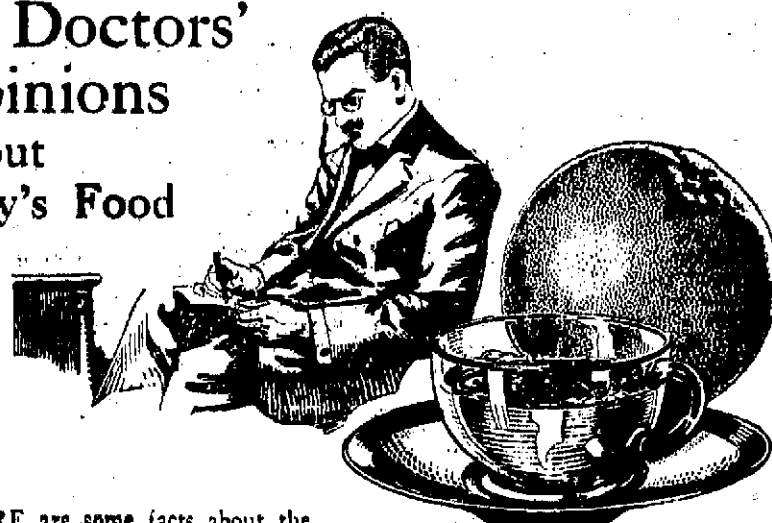

A Man's Breakfast Fruit

Note the men who are always bright-eyed and alert. They are usually the lovers of fresh fruit.

Oranges are a real man's breakfast fruit—see that your men folks get the healthful salts and acids of the orange every morning.

93 Doctors' Opinions About Baby's Food

HERE are some facts about the feeding of children that every mother will be glad to know. We asked this question of 118 physicians—"What fruit is best for children under three years of age?" One hundred and seven mentioned oranges as one of the most beneficial fruits.

Ninety-three of the 107, or nearly 87 per cent, designated oranges without referring to other fruits.

"Oranges (juice) form a valuable article in the dietary of the infant and child, and one that is with difficulty replaced by any other fruit," said one. "I know of no other fruit that is so excellent for the human being from infancy to old age," was another's view.

"Some fruit juice should be given to most healthy children every day. The best fruit juice is that of the orange, which should be fresh and sweet." The last is the belief of one of America's most renowned baby specialists.

We could add endless comment. But, better than that, we refer you to your own physician. Show him these statements. Ask him what he thinks and be guided by his advice.

The following is quoted from the "Keep Well Series," circulated by the Government through the Treasury Department, United States Public Health Service:

"Bottle-fed babies should have orange juice each day after the first month."

Five-minute Lunches For Busy Women

You can make a meal of oranges—a quick, delicious meal. There's nothing else so good, and there's no cooking, fuss or trouble.

Five minutes, and you have a luscious fruit dish, a cup of tea and bread and butter. And that's as healthful and as nourishing a noon repast as any woman wants on busy days.

For Easy Entertaining

Orange salads and desserts are the handiest dishes of all when entertaining. It is easy to keep a dozen in the house, and it is easy to prepare them in different and attractive ways.

Sunkist oranges, being practically seedless and meaty, slice easiest and look best in salads and desserts.

Sunkist

Uniformly Good Oranges

Eat more oranges. They are good, and good for you. Serve them sliced, halved or extract the juice for breakfast. Serve them in salad for lunch and in desserts at dinner. Let the whole family have the benefit of this fine fruit in some form every day. Sunkist oranges are firm, but tender, juicy and sweet. They slice best and are easiest to separate and cut. All first-class dealers sell them. Get a delicious dozen now.

SATURDAY PARTIES FOR BRIDES-TO-BE

Two happy events in the social life of the city were the pre-nuptial parties for two charming young brides of the near future. Both affairs were the initial social events of the many scheduled for the two young women.

May Day Party for Miss Atkinson
Mrs. W. E. Cole and Eliza (Custard) were hostesses on Saturday afternoon at a May Day party, complimenting Miss Anne Louise Atkinson, who will select a wedding day in the early summer. A four-course luncheon was served and decorations were May baskets and floral decorations. Covers were laid for twenty-five young friends of the honor guest. A pretty May pole dance was a unique feature of the party. The afternoon was spent in hemming towels for the bride's chest.

Evening Party for Miss Caspary
Mrs. Andrew Risen and Miss Jennie Silseth were hostesses to sixty guests in the Knights of Pythias hall, honoring Miss Bergliot Caspary and her fiancé, R. Sherman Wright.

Elaborate decorations in red and white created quite a lovely setting for the function. The honor guests, seated on a beautifully draped dais, received the felicitations of the guests. Little Gladys Risen, daughter of the hostess, entered the room when all guests had assembled and presented the bride-to-be with a huge arm bouquet of red carnations and ferns. The dainty miss, gowned in white tulle, was followed by Jack Zuger, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Zuger, who presented a gift of the guests, in the form of a beautiful set of Maderia table linen. Little Master Jack was splendid in carnival array in red and white.

A buffet-luncheon was served, the entire service being in red and white. During the evening Miss Lillian Paulsen, accompanied by Miss Silseth, sang "I Love You" by Cadman. The McKenzie orchestra played softly during the reception, and furnished the music for the evening.

BIRTHDAY SURPRISE FOR PASTOR
Rev. Adolph Gunther, who has charge of the German Baptist missions in this district, was pleasantly surprised Sunday night when called to the basement room of the German Baptist church after service. There he found the congregation waiting to congratulate him upon his fifty-first birthday anniversary. The pastor was presented with a suitable gift in honor of the anniversary, the assembly sang, and an appetizing lunch was served by the ladies of this congregation. Rev. Gunther was completely and very happily surprised at the turn of events at the close of the service on his birthday.

MISS STARK TO PARO.
Miss Elsie Stark of Mandan, formerly county demonstration agent for Burleigh county, passed through Bismarck this morning enroute to Fargo to assist in the extension work of the Agricultural college. Miss Stark has recently returned from vacation spent in California with her mother and brothers.

MISS DISEM RETURNED.
Miss Lolla Disem, until recently with the State Immigration department, returned yesterday to Bismarck after an extended visit in St. Paul.

MAGPIE FURNISHES MOTIF FOR ELEGANT EVENING GOWN

TWO DINNER GOWNS

The magpie mode is good. Milady never tires of combining black and white and few are the combinations which so bring out the good points of skin, eyes and hair, of the woman with the tall slim figure, as black and white. However, only the tall slim woman can be the magnet of fashion—black and white are dangerous for the short, stout figure. The dinner gown in black and white, by Lucile, sports a train which is lined and bordered with black satin. The petticoat, you'll notice, for the director's line of demands a flimsy bit of lace beneath, is of silver lace. The bodice is also of that intriguing material. Jet is used for shoulder straps and narrow girdle. Notice the peacock fan which Miss Helen Eagon wears with—oh, such an air! The vogue for the huge tulle bow you'll find in the shorter frock which Kathryn Perry of Selznick wears. You'll find here, too, the hem of varying lengths which is to be even more popular as the summer proceeds. The panel front is richly embroidered with Egyptian colored beads. The tulle band headpiece is coming to the fore for dinner and theater wear. The gown is by Worthman and Mallard.

BEAUTIFUL SERVICE FOR CHILDREN

St. Mary's Pro-Cathedral was the scene of a beautiful special service just previous to the celebration of high mass on Sunday morning, when Father M. Hiltner administered first solemn communion to a large class of boys and girls. The children standing within the chancel holding their lighted candles, made public profession of faith and recited the prayers of their communion service. Tiny girls in white, stood as escort for the girls while receiving communion at the high altar, and small boys in white suits escorted the boys in their service. Each boy wore on his coat lapel a white carnation, and the girls wore lovely in white gowns and veils wreathed with flowers. Father Hiltner spoke feelingly of the solemnity of the occasion and called upon the congregation to help the children to live up to their professions and promises.

Visits in City.
Homer Ganz, formerly chief clerk in the state auditor's office, now assistant cashier of the First State Bank of Kulm, was a visitor in Bismarck over Sunday. Mr. Lowe, formerly of Ashley, has taken over the Kulm Messenger, newspaper formerly owned by E. T. Brost.

Fishing Day.
Warm sunshine Sunday brought out automobilists, golfers, hikers and fishermen. One might think the Missouri river was the anglers' paradise, for the banks were lined in both sides of the river for several miles below Bismarck with fishermen. A number of exceptionally large catfish were among the best catches reported.

Infant Son Dies.
Baby Rudolph Eugene, the two-month-old infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Bernat Ellis, died on Saturday afternoon at the family home on Avenue A and Twentieth street. Pneumonia was the cause of death. Burial will be at 12 o'clock at the former home of the family on Monday. Tuesday afternoon the body will be received at the funeral home and will be buried in the cemetery.

To Convention.
The Bismarck chapter of the Order of Elks will leave for the national convention at St. Paul, Minn., on Friday, May 6, at 8 o'clock. The chapter is composed of Elks 1234, 1235, 1236, 1237, 1238, 1239, 1240, 1241, 1242, 1243, 1244, 1245, 1246, 1247, 1248, 1249, 1250, 1251, 1252, 1253, 1254, 1255, 1256, 1257, 1258, 1259, 1260, 1261, 1262, 1263, 1264, 1265, 1266, 1267, 1268, 1269, 1270, 1271, 1272, 1273, 1274, 1275, 1276, 1277, 1278, 1279, 1280, 1281, 1282, 1283, 1284, 1285, 1286, 1287, 1288, 1289, 1290, 1291, 1292, 1293, 1294, 1295, 1296, 1297, 1298, 1299, 1300.

WHY?

By a vote of 129 to 11 the following resolution was passed by the Illinois Legislature at Springfield.

WHEREAS the legislature of the Sovereign State of Illinois being mindful not only of the sympathy of Washington, Jefferson, Lincoln and other presidents for the oppressed people of Ireland but also for the pledge of congress made through Benjamin Franklin in seventeen seventy-eight, and

WHEREAS the present war in Ireland waged to repress representative government with every circumstance of barbarism is a menace to the peace of the world, and

WHEREAS a free sister republic in Ireland is in the best interests of our country and thus also of our state, be it

Resolved that President Harding be requested in conformity with precedents well established and practice frequently exercised to recognize the elected government of the Republic of Ireland and that this resolution signed by the Governor, the Lieutenant Governor, and the Speaker of the House of the State of Illinois and sealed with the great seal of state be conveyed to President Harding and to Senators McCormick and McKinley and Charles Evan Hughes Secretary of State.

The Wisconsin State Senate by almost as unanimous a vote passed a similar resolution. There may be some good reason for these deliberative bodies expressing so nearly a unanimous opinion. You owe it to yourself to know why.

Hear Peter Golden at the Auditorium Tuesday, May 3rd. Address in Free.

Gov. Lynn J. Frazier will preside.

THE STATE'S OLDEST NEWSPAPER (Established 1873)

YELLOW FEVER PERIL RETURNS

Last year, just before the death of that great man Gorgas, he announced that yellow fever was wiped out.

The last stronghold of this plague was Guayaquil, Ecuador. But now the Rockefeller Foundation is fighting it in Vera Cruz, Mexico. It is "wiping it out" again.

Will it stay "wiped out" this time? Let us hope so. If it does, it will be the first great disease to suffer extirpation.

It is none too soon. If it ever reaches eastern and southern Asia, it will be conflagration out of hand and beyond control. It is a race with Death.

Yellow fever is spread by the bite of a mosquito. It cannot live permanently above the frost line. It cannot live on our Pacific coast. In warm weather it spreads far north of its habitat, as far as Montreal, and, if infected, carries yellow fever with it.

In rural districts and small towns it burns itself out and stops of itself when all the susceptible people have had it.

It takes a city of around 100,000 people to yield babies fast enough to enable it to exist all the time. So the plan is to stop it in all places of that size and over, and thus sweep it from the earth.

It originated in America, crossing the Atlantic in the old sailing ships, and spreading around the Mediterranean Basin and down the west coast of Africa. It never got through the Suez Canal, or across Africa, or around the Horn, or across the Pacific.

Slow voyages, unexplored Africa, closed water-butt—luck—have protected that third of the human race in the Far East from this awful plague. Travel is faster now. If it ever reaches them, beware! For great regions there are, practically uninterrupted insanitary towns.

Will science win?

ROADS TO SUCCESS

"Canst tell how an oyster makes its shell? No, nor I neither. But he sticks till he succeeds."—King Lear.

Forty-four years ago Anna Katharine Green was known only to a few neighbors in Buffalo, N. Y., as a woman hard pressed with family cares and sickness. She tried several "jobs" and failed in all of them. Then she sat down and wrote "The Leavenworth Case."

Since then she has written 30 novels and 400 short stories, all dealing with mysterious crimes. Although 74 years old she is still writing. "Nine-tenths of discouragement and failure," she says, "is due to selfishness and self-pity."

John B. Stanchfield, noted lawyer, was the son of a country doctor of Elmira, N. Y.

He tried eleven kinds of work and gave up each. Inspired by a sermon, the text of which was "Failure," he left home, went to Cambridge, worked his way through Harvard law school and was admitted to the New York bar.

He is now called the greatest trial lawyer in the United States.

"In the final analysis," he says, "the man who finds out what he wants to do and then does it, even if he strives, is the man who will win."

Charles Piez failed in every job until he went to work for the Link-Belt Company of Chicago.

He was made president of the company, and was appointed vice-president and general manager of the United States Shipping Board Emergency Fleet Corporation, whose nation-wide organization he built up.

"Let me say right here," Mr. Piez recently asserted, "as strongly and emphatically as it can be said, that the foundation of all success is moral courage."

BONDS AT PAR

A good many well-intentioned people seem aggrieved because the government has not maintained Liberty bonds at par. They seem to think that Uncle Sam has broken faith in some way.

To the ordinary thinker, this attitude seems a little queer. It seems to spring from that old-fashioned notion that the government is a corporation and president—the thing is done.

But are the values maintained in that way? If a pool wishes to buy a stock, it must take all the stock of that issue which is offered, must it not?

Then one way to maintain Liberty bonds at par would be for the Treasury to buy in at par all bonds which were offered to it. Assuming that the government has the money (which it hasn't), isn't it plain that the government would soon own all the bonds which are now selling below par? In other words, it would have to redeem all the Liberty bonds at once, or as many of them as would force the issues up to par? If the government had the means to do this, isn't it plain that it need not have issued any bonds?

It could, perhaps, make them legal tender for all debts public and private and by thus making them into money, they would be at par. Yes, but would not this be an inflation of the currency to such an extent that the actual value of the bonds expressed in commodities would be at least as low and probably lower than before? In other words, wouldn't bonds buy less bread?

Or, the government could issue irredeemable currency with which it could take up the bonds at par, as fast as they were offered. It would seem this would only inflate the currency again.

Possibly there are other ways of maintaining the Liberty bonds at par. Very possible the reader has a plan or a remedy. If so, send it in. There is none too much financial wisdom in the world. Sometimes the aforesaid ordinary thinker is inclined to doubt whether anyone really understands money, its functions and effects. Mayhap some plain man may arise some day and show us all that it is so simple we have been unable to discern it.

PLUCKED EYE-BROWS

Back in 1820 the elder D'Israeli wrote: "In China the girls are continually plucking their eyebrows that they may be thin and long."

He spoke of this custom among the Chinese in an essay on feminine fashions prevailing in benighted countries like China, Turkey and Africa. He cited it as an example of the lengths to which women in those lands will go in order to conform to their peculiar notions of beauty.

He described the Chinese custom of plucking eyebrows in connection with similar customs elsewhere, such as the practice of the women of Greenland who color their faces blue and yellow; and the fashion of painting the face red, among native women of India; and the custom in ancient Persia of breaking the nose in order to give it the aquiline contour.

"Thank goodness," the ladies of D'Israeli's time doubtlessly exclaimed, "fashion does not condemn us to such atrocities."

And he would have been regarded as a crazy prophet who would have predicted that 100 years later, women in America and Europe would be having their eyebrows plucked in order to produce the thin and long effects so popular in China.

Harvard astronomers have discovered another planet, but even that fails to relieve the housing situation.

Funny, isn't it, how many fishing worms you find spading the garden and how few when digging for bait?

Just as you had almost forgotten the high price you paid for coal last winter, along comes ash-carrying-out season to remind you.

It's to be hoped the Louisiana sheriff's lack of memory doesn't keep him away from the county treasurer's window at certain intervals.

THE GREAT VACUUM

Secretary Hughes in a letter to Samuel Gompers, who had asked for a statement of the facts concerning Russia, puts the case in a manner to leave no doubt in any mind. Soviet Russia, the secretary declares, is a "gigantic economic vacuum," and he says furthermore that "no evidence exists that the unfortunate situation is likely to be alleviated as long as the present political and economic system continues."

The plain meaning of this is that Russia needs practically everything and has nothing to offer in return. Anybody who trades with Russia does so at the imminent risk—with almost the certainty—of losing everything. Not long ago the Russian government placed immense orders for goods here. There was absolutely no guarantee of payment.

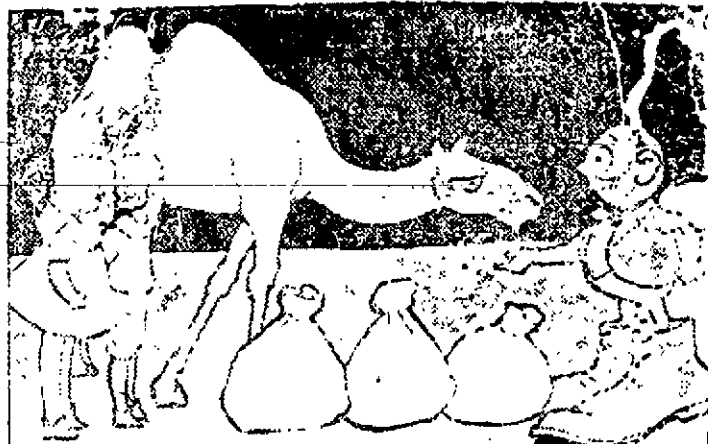

It has been claimed that the United States had put a blockade against trade with Russia. Secretary Hughes points out that there is no blockade, all restrictions on direct trade with Russia having been removed last July. There is no barrier whatever and anybody who wants to take a gambling chance in the matter of payment can ship anything there.

The meaning of all this is that Russia is her own economic enemy. She has destroyed her own credit and her own resources, and until the system of government over there is changed there will be no remedy. The problem is how to fill the great vacuum, how to bring about order in the chaos that now prevails throughout that vast area formerly known as the Russian empire.

Secretary Hughes' note will do much to correct a false impression that prevails in some quarters that the United States is active in hostility to the soviet government. It is simply quiescent. It opens the doors to trade. It declines to establish official relations, it is true, but for this there is the best of reason. The truth is that the chief enemy of Russia today is the Lenin government at Moscow.—Washington Star.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

By Olive Barton Roberts

"What prizes?" asked Caliph Camel.

"What prizes?" asked Caliph Camel, eyeing with suspicion the bugs that Flippety-Flap took out of his shoes. "The prizes for the race," explained Flippety-Flap.

"Race?" questioned the camel, meanwhile wriggling his nostrils. You couldn't have smelled the contents of those big bugs, my fears, and I couldn't and Nancy and Nick couldn't, but just the same the old raggedy-patchy-looking camel could. He pretended he didn't care what was in those sacks, but if he didn't care, I'd just like to see what a camel looks like when he does care.

"Yes," nodded Flippety-Flap. "I said 'race.' I'm going to gather up all the stray camels I can find and have a race. The first prize is 'this bag of dried beans.' It goes to the winner, the winner being the camel who reaches the door of the big circus tent first."

"Hm!" said Caliph Camel, reflectively. "Dried beans? That's a very nice prize."

"And this," said Flippety-Flap, kicking the second bag, "is to go to the second best runner. How fast can you run, Caliph?"

"About two miles an hour when I hurry," answered the camel. "I can't run a bit fast. I'd rather walk."

"Well, that makes no difference," said the fairyman. "A race is a race whether it is run, or flown, or swum, or walked. This prize is a bag of dried corn, the finest dried corn out of side of a feed store!"

"Hm!" remarked Caliph Camel again. "Dried corn! That's a very nice prize. What's the other?" And he rolled his eye toward the third bag.

"Pear!" Flippety-Flap told him. "Dried: Sweet and nice, too! They are the third prize."

"That's a very, very nice prize, indeed," answered the camel, quite pleasantly. "In fact, they are all nice prizes. I shouldn't mind having them myself."

TARDIEU SAYS: AMERICA AND BRITAN NEED FRANCE TO PRESERVE PEACE

Indianapolis, May 2.—At the moment that the allies press Germany for payment of reparations Andre Tardieu tells the world "The Truth About the Treaty." Says in Tardieu in this volume, just issued by the Hobbs-Merrill Company:

"Germany had premeditated not only the complete military defeat, but also the economical and financial ruin of her adversaries. The victorious powers compel her to repay about 30 per cent of the damage done by her."

"Such an obligation after such an aggression is neither abusive nor cruel. It adds, passing from equity to facts, that it is far from unenforceable."

Tardieu is one of the five men who knew everything that went on at the peace conference. The others were Wilson, House, Lloyd George and Clemenceau. He formerly was French high commissioner to the United States, member of the cabinet and delegate of the French republic to the peace conference.

"If you would know of those fateful days in Paris," says Colonel House, "when the allies of France had gathered from the ends of the earth to have their reckoning with the central powers, read 'The Truth About the Treaty,' for here it is told by him who knows."

Tardieu fought as a captain in the trenches and rose to the position of Clemenceau's right hand man at the conference. All closed doors were open to him. In his book he publishes a letter he wrote Colonel House during the conference. This letter voiced France's objection to leniency in dealing with Germany on reparations, and said:

"When the question arose of giving a hearing to the Irish, everyone gave way to the British objections. When the question arose of Japan's status in the League of Nations, everyone ly make generous allowance for Germany's situation and her capacity of payment by letting her off repayment of war costs at the suggestion of the American delegation, thus reducing her debt by more than two-thirds of the total. It also made a careful study of the resources with which Germany could pay."

While Tardieu looks to America and Great Britain to help France enforce the collection of reparations, he makes this statement, which has particular significance, because of the various phases of the Japanese and Irish question:

"Great Britain needs France as an element of stability and restraint in world politics, especially and I say it plainly in Anglo-American relations."

"The war revolutionized these relations. It created ties which I trust may never be broken. Yet how can we overlook that often the past weighing upon the present makes difficult the most essential collaborations? How can we overlook that friction which may arise between Dominions and the United States? How can we overlook that the modern world material and moral effects of economic struggle cannot be foreseen?"

"And an economic struggle is even now engaged up between the two great branches of the Anglo-Saxon race, British and American shipyards are racing to see which can build most. In the markets of South America and of the Far East British and American loans are struggling for supremacy. For this healthy competition to remain a healthy stimulus and not become a dagger, Great Britain and America both need France as connecting link and compensator."

Personal relations between Wilson, Lloyd George and Clemenceau at the peace conference, Tardieu says, "Despite divergencies of opinion, the personal relations between the three men during those 40 days never ceased to be sincere, calm and affectionate. May their fellow countrymen never forget it!"

POETS' CORNER

THE BROOK'S SONG (By Florence Borner) There's a lesson you should take, From the music that I make; Be a worker, too. World has need of you; And my brothers in the ocean, Keep the world in locomotion, You will find this true.

FRIENDS (By Florence Borner) What is more noble than a friend? A friend sincere and true; Who if conditions should require, Would give his all for you. Who loves you neither for your fame, Nor for your golden store, But if misfortune chanced to frown Would love you still the more.

What is more noble than a friend? A friend sincere and true; Whose love is all embracing, Not confined to cult and creed. I often-times have thought that friends, Were unto mortals given. That we might learn to love the more, Our Savior friend in heaven.

THE HILLS (By Florence Borner) I love the hills, the massive hills, That catch and hold each passing breeze; My heart with glowing rapture thrills, To know the Father thought of these.

I wander off in pensive mood, High up amid their grays and browns, And from the depths of solitude, Catch glimpses of the distant town.

Ho, Mortal of triumphant birth, My heart a thought of gladness fills, You may embellish all the earth, But God, alone, can deck the hills.

HOSPITAL DESTROYED

Underwood, N. D., May 2.—Fire, originating in the basement, destroyed the Underwood hospital, the loss being estimated at $25,000, partially covered by insurance. The building was formerly the West hotel. The patients were removed to a nearby residence. Hard fighting saved adjacent buildings.

EVERETT TRUE BY CONDO

Artistic temperament must be given a new meaning. Cases of it that have occurred from time to time, among world famous comedians, grand opera singers particularly, have always been destructive in some way.

Shows have been spoiled. Plans have been knocked awry. Fortunes have been lost. Lives have been wrecked. All by the inexplicable urge which has been called artistic temperament.

The fact that scientists have accepted artistic temperament as the manifestation of emotion, which are as strangely wonderful in their way as the physical attainments of the artists possessing such a temperament, has caused managers to put up with it for the same reason that a circus manager has extra strong cars to transport elephants. It is a part of the game, and has to be taken into consideration in dealing with geniuses.

Once in a lifetime, however, artistic temperament is endeavored by something that can be put into a form to be appreciated by the non-artistic, and then the world is enriched by a new classic of some sort. Take Charlie Chaplin as an instance. As to his genius there can be no question. Comedy is as great an achievement as is tragedy and the man who portrays either better than anyone else in the world is a genius.

To associate Charlie Chaplin with artistic temperament is a thing that is not generally known, but it is a fact that he recently turned away at least $100,000 in salary to play a dramatic role in a feature production!

It was artistic temperament in the nth degree. It was at a time in his career when the sort of comedy that had made him famous was the most popular form of amusement that could be presented to the American public. Yet Chaplain for the first time in his motion picture career was independent, and he gave up an income of nearly $3,000 a day to answer the urge of artistry that had called him ever since he went into moving pictures.

He spent a full year in gratifying his artistic temperament. The result is "The Kid," which will be the first National attraction at the Elitige theater, beginning Monday. It is the greatest picture the comedian has ever done, and almost a different front in his career has ever been seen.

He is still Charlie Chaplin. Little hat, dinky mustache, full draped trousers, enormous shoes, half-size cane, and all, but is a Charlie Chaplin injected into a production that covers both lights and shades of human life.

The humor is there; the comedy is present; but it is not the trick comedy that made him famous. It is the natural comedy and humor arising from the situations which develop logically throughout the six reels of joyous laughter and entertainment which constitute "The Kid."

Remarkable Remarks

THE present income tax burden creates a nation of Hars.—Dr. Charles J. Bullock, economics professor, Harvard.

NINETY per cent of the motion picture industry is clean and we are now cleansing the other ten per cent.—William A. Brady, president, National Association of Motion Picture Industry.

OF course, we are all for America first, but the best way to prove that, should anyone question it, is not by words, but by votes.—Representative Mondell, of Wyoming.

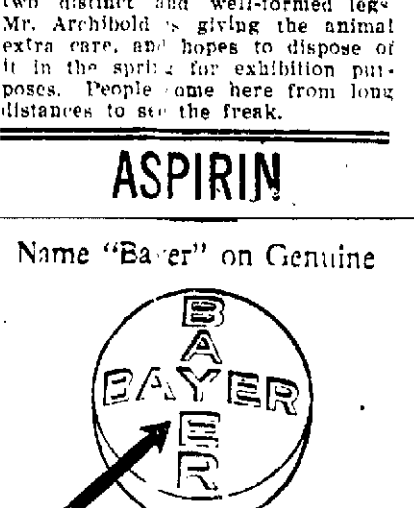

WHEN, in God's name, will the time come when political extortions will not be such as to require this sectional issue to be raised again? It was used in the last campaign. It would seem to be the purpose to use it in the coming campaign.—Representative Pott, of North Carolina.

WE must use our power to produce the greatest armament to drive all armaments from the face of the earth.—Representative Burke Cochran, New York.

FIVE-LEGGED CALE. Warwick, N. D., May 2.—E. Archibold, a farmer living near this place, is the owner of a five-legged calf, one of the hind legs being in reality two legs joined in one from the body to the knee and there branching into two distinct and well-formed legs. Mr. Archibold is giving the animal extra care, and hopes to dispose of it in the spring for exhibition purposes. People come here from long distances to see the freak.

Titles of motion pictures are sometimes said to be misleading, but the new Wallace Reid Paramount picture, "The Charm School," which will be shown at the Bismarck theater tonight is all that the title implies. It is a real charm picture, and its charm lies in several noteworthy features.
First there is the work of the star, then the delightful story, a brisk, modern, breezy tale of the light comedy type, written by Alice Duer Miller, and the splendid supporting cast, headed by dainty Lila Lee and including such favorites as Adele Fargington, Hugh Hains, Edwin Stevens, Grace Morse, Patricia Magee, Lincoln Steedman and Kate Toneray.

SPORT BRIEFS
 George Kelley, sensational first baseman of the Giants, got his sixth home run of the season Saturday with the bags loaded. He passed "Babe"
 Ruth in home runs by that drive,
 Ruth having five.

Baseball teams will abound in North Dakota this year. Business men of Mayville have organized and guaranteed money to provide a first class baseball team.

Portien, a Pacific coast recruit, hurled the St. Louis Nationals to victory over Cincinnati, Saturday.

Johnston of Brooklyn led the National league batters up to last week with an average of .535. Harry Hell-man of Detroit led the Americans with .513. Babe Ruth's average was .447.
 Miller and Armstrong, St. Paul teammates, were tied for American Association honors.

Work on Fargo's new baseball park is nearing completion. Charles Boardman is president of the association and is placing a fast semi-pro team in the field for that city.

TO TELL FANS WHAT BASEBALL TEAM'S DOING

Management Invites Fans to Attend Meeting on Wednesday Night

Do you know, baseball fans, just what has been done by the management of the Bismarck team?
 If not, you will have an opportunity to learn Wednesday night, says Secretary H. P. Keller, of the club. A meeting will be held in Frayne Baker's place of business, Main and Third streets, Wednesday night when a full outline of the work will be given by the management of the team. All fans are asked to be present.

The new park is being put into good shape. If Alex Harter, manager of the team, were to add a "Do You Know" to the many on the tongues of people this week he would say:
 "Do you know that it is some job to make a ball diamond out of an open field?" Saturday a caterpillar tractor, sent to Bismarck by the war department, was used to haul a drag over the grounds. The diamond is being rolled and dragged practically every day, and the diamond will be a level, fast one, though it will take considerable work.

Work on the fence which will enclose the park on all sides will be begun today.

WRIST HITTER IS BABE'S RIVAL

KELLY'S 1920 RECORD.
 George Kelly, as rookie first baseman for the Giants, hit 266 and fielded
 .944. Of his 157 hits he made them count for a total of 234 bases. He drove in 11 home runs, 11 three-base hits and 22 two-baggers.
 As a holder Kelly was the second best first basemen in the National League. He has the greatest number of putouts, 1,759; the most assistant and the most chances, 4,873.

GEORGE KELLY AND HIS WRIST SNAP WITH WHICH HE'S BUSTING HOMERS

By Dean Snyder.

George Kelly, lanky first baseman of the New York Giants and a homerun rival of Babe Ruth, is a wrist hitter.

He hits the ball with a snap. It travels a mile.
 The bat he uses is as slim as a toothpick.

Kelly's secret is timing the wood with the ball.

With Ruth and Bob Meusel of the Yanks the Giant first baseman is one of the longest hitters the game ever had.

His style of hitting homers is different from either Ruth's or Meusel's.
 Ruth combines the wrist snap with the killing body swing.

Meusel is an arm hitter. That is, he gets the power which he puts behind his bat with his long, powerful arms.

While Ruth's style is more spectacular Kelly is getting just as good results.

He hits to both right and left field.
 He has the advantage of being able to cross up the fielders and drive the ball where they're not expecting it to go.

Although talk of the livelier ball has been going on this spring, there is a large crop of distance smashes.
 Hitting homers isn't due to the ball,
 it's the men who hit it.

Kelly takes a peculiar position at bat. His long legs are far apart.
 Fans used to call him awkward before he blossomed into a star.

John McGraw doesn't care how the California youth stands so long as he cracks the ball.

The benefits would be mutual to both fans and players.

"If the referee announced at the end of each round which fighter won it fans could mark it down on their score cards. When the fight was over they could add up the rounds each man won and they'd have the decision."

"Scoring fights round by round would help eliminate poor or crooked refereeing, too."

"A lot of fighters go along easy, believe outpointed during the early rounds of a fight and then speed up the last few rounds to make an impressive grandstand finish."

"A referee, who doesn't know his business, will give the whitewash decision in many cases when he didn't win the majority of the rounds."

"If the fighters knew at the end of each round which had won it they'd fight more and still less."

"Fans should leave a boxing arena satisfied as to who won. There isn't any doubt in the minds of baseball fans as to who won when they leave the park. And that's what makes baseball one of the square games."

"Boxing will thrive on honesty and score cards just the same as baseball."

Even Carpenter, himself, doesn't think Tex Rickard's Jersey City show will not last over four rounds.

Propaganda for summer baseball for college players is rapidly being fanned into a blaze.

Cleveland, May 2.—Johnny Kilbane, featherweight champion of the world, advocates the idea of boxing bouts should be scored round by round.
 "Let the ringsiders and the boxers know who is winning as the fight goes along," says Kilbane.
 "They'll enjoy the boxing a lot more if they know how the fight is going."

FORM LIVESTOCK CREDIT COMPANY AT BEACH, PLAN

Extension Division Representative to Urge Method of Buying Stock

ON AMORTIZATION PLAN

Agricultural College, May 2.—A mass meeting of the farmers and business men of Golden Valley county will be held at Beach next Tuesday at which Max Morgan of the North Dakota Extension Division, livestock specialist, will present a project looking toward the financing of farmers in that locality for the purchasing of from two to five head of grade Holstein cattle for each farmer interested.

Believing that the only salvation for farmers in the drier areas of North Dakota is to have some steady income to fall back upon in dry years, and realizing that at present time farmers in that part of the state are unable to finance themselves, Mr. Morgan has worked out a plan for the organization of a livestock credit company, to be financed by the business men within the county if possible, which will loan the farmers sufficient capital to purchase a few dairy animals. At the same time, the credit company will have gilledged security for money advanced in the form of a chattel mortgage on the cows purchased and on all female offspring until the mortgage is paid in full, in addition to the farmer's note for the amount of his loan. A similar plan is now working successfully at Marinette, Wis.

Loans will be paid by the farmers on the amortization plan, so the security compared to the amount of the loan will constantly increase in magnitude. Loans will be made only to responsible farmers who are in shape to care for dairy cattle on their farms.
 Inspection will be made four times annually by an experienced dairy man, who will make suggestions to the farmer regarding the care of his herd.

According to the plan, none of the cows purchased will cost more than $150. Payments on the loan will be divided into 36 equal monthly installments.

The farmer will pay six per cent interest each year on the total amount of the loan together with a small charge to cover the expense of the quarterly inspections by the dairy specialist.

In addition to the financing, arrangements will be made to ship in carload lots of dairy cattle, to organize cream shipping associations, build associations, etc.
 Less than a hundred miles east of Golden Valley, in Morton county where crop conditions have been much the same, is a striking example of what can be accomplished with dairy cattle. Seventeen farmers belong to the New Salem Holstein circuit.

CAPTURE ALLEGED SMUGGLERS.

Fargo, May 2.—The United States marshal's office in Fargo reported today that the arrest at Rutte, Mont., Thursday of Willis McCoy, William Enright and C. A. Hogan, formerly of Minot, N. D., alleged leaders of an international band and members of a gun crew that fled a holdup trade on bootleggers on each side of the Canadian boundary, ended a search of several months in which North Dakota federal authorities were interested.

The Spectacular Wheel

THE most spectacular wheels in the world are those carrying millions of automobiles, trucks, and tractors over the roads of the United States. Petroleum—refined petroleum—furnishes the power which drives them and the lubricants which keep them running.

Throughout ten important Middle Western States, the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) serves the drivers of these machines. Not only does it provide them with Red Crown, the high-grade gasoline, and with Polarine, the perfect motor oil, but it furnishes the road oil and asphalt which surfaces hundreds of miles of the best roads in the country as well.

Roads made with Stanolind Paving Asphalt make riding easy and smooth, and by eliminating the ruts and dust it also keeps down the upkeep cost of car, and clothing, and enables the motorist to get the utmost of pleasure from his machine.

Such roads eliminate the constant attention and expense which dirt roads exact, thus saving time, labor and money for property owners along the way.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) manufactures everything made from petroleum. It provides unsurpassed facilities for the use of the highly-trained specialists who oversee every step in the intricate processes of manufacture.

The resulting products are sent to market with the Company's unqualified guarantee that every gallon is made as well as it can be made.
